Southwest Set to Takeoff With Latest Nonstop in San Antonio

Southwest Airlines will get 2006 started off the right way by launching nonstop service to sunny San Diego, California. The new service will begin on February 5 and will connect two of the country's most exciting tourist destinations. San Diego is California's second largest city and features more than seventy miles of beaches along the Pacific Ocean. It's also home to the world-famous "San Diego Zoo," which spans 400 acres and features more than 4,000 animals representing 800 species. Combine all of that with one of the most ideal climates anywhere in the U.S. and it's easy to see why this new flight is expected to book up fast. Once it's up and running on February 5, the new flight will maintain the following schedule:

From San Antonio to San Diego

Departs	Arrives
12:50 pm (cst)	1:50 pm (pst)

From San Diego to San Antonio

Departs	Arrives
9:50 am (pst)	2:30 pm (cst)

With the addition of San Diego, Southwest now has almost fifty flights taking off from San Antonio International Airport each and every day, offering San Antonians nonstop service to thirteen exciting markets.
